

SAKE

“THE DRINK OF THE GODS”

RICE

High quality and carefully farmed rice is expensive, but worth it.

Good sake is made from rice specifically bred for sake. It isn't made from table rice. Great sake uses higher quality rice grown in higher quality fields. A great sake brewery will keep a close relationship with their local farmers to find the best rice grown in the region.

POLISHING

The best sake is made only from the heart of the rice grain.

The outer layer of sake rice contains protein and fatty acids that produce harsh flavor.

To make great sake the brewer must polish away the outer layers.

The state of the art machine needed to polish rice to ultra premium levels without breaking the grains costs over one million dollars.

ATTENTION

Hand crafted, labor intensive techniques lead to better sake.

Many steps of modern mass-produced sake are done by machines following a procedure. This hands-off approach loses the careful oversight of a great Toji (Master Brewer). Only a diligent and talented Toji is able to make the small adjustments needed at every step to produce the best sake every time.

HONJOZO

Rice polished to at least 70%. A small amount of distilled alcohol is added to the rice mash. This is added to extract aromas and flavor compounds that do not dissolve in water. These compounds would otherwise be removed during the filtering process. Honjozo's are light and easy to drink.

JUNMAI

Rice polished to at least 70%. Made with only rice, water, yeast and koji. Junmai typically are fuller bodied and richer than other types often with good acidity. Junmai paired with a higher grade means that the rice is polished to that level AND was made with only rice, water, yeast and koji.

GINJO

Rice polished to at least 60%. Brewed with labor intensive steps. Fermented at colder temperatures for longer periods. Ginjos are quite fragrant, with rich fruit flavors.

DAIGINJO

Rice polished to at least 50%. The pinnacle of the sake brewer's art. Brewed with painstaking precision. Daiginjos are generally delicate with complex flavors and aromas. They are the smoothest of all sake.

NIGORI

Cloudy. Coarsely filtered to allow rice particles to remain in sake to increase texture and flavor.

NAMA

Unpasteurized. fresh, fuller flavored, lively

GENSHU

Undiluted, cask strength. Higher alcohol content

TOKUBETSU

Special. A Sake that the brew master has designated as special. Made with extra attention.

SAKE NIGORI

Cloudy Sake. Coarsely filtered to allow the unfermented rice particles to remain in the sake to increase feeling and flavor.

		SPLIT	BOTTLE
DREAMY CLOUDS	TOKUBETSU JUNMAI NIGORI	54	108
Rihaku Brewery, Shimane Prefecture

This Nigori is special because its milling rate of 41% technically qualifies it as Junmai Ginjo grade sake, a rare quality level for a nigori sake. The nose is led by steamed rice, fresh red plums, and suggestions of roasted peanuts. Unlike many Nigori, it is lean and very dry in the mouth, and the impact is chewy with rice flavors intermingling with the nutty and slightly fruity characteristics.

59% SMB, Gohyakumangoku Rice

			BOTTLE
DASSAI 45 NIGORI	DAIGINJO NIGORI		136
Asahi Brewery, Yamaguchi Prefecture

Dassai Sake's are deservedly put in the upper echelons of Sake. Their nigori is no exception. It is uniquely lighter in style, unlike other nigori that smack you in the face with sweetness. Dassai Nigori strikes the perfect balance of sweetness and dryness, creating the house favorite nigori.

45% SMB, Yamada Nishiki Rice

FRUIT INFUSED SAKE

These Sakes have been infused with fresh Japanese fruit. Bursting with flavor, these Sakes delightfully showcase the tropical fruits they are infused with.

			BOTTLE
YUZU BAY - 500ml	YUZU INFUSED SAKE		80
Funasaka Brewery, Gifu Prefecture

Yuzu is a Japanese citrus fruit. The infusion gives this sake a rich sweetness balanced by the crisp acidity of yuzu. It is made from spring water from the beautiful mountains of Hida. The fruit used in this sake is grown in Kaminoho Village, renowned for high quality yuzu.

			BOTTLE
HEIWA SUPPAI	SOUR PLUM WINE		116
Heiwa Brewery, Wakayama Prefecture

Plum wine is made by infusing sake with fresh plums. Heiwa Suppai stands out from other plum wines for a variety of reasons. Heiwa owns the orchards and grow special "Nankobi" plums, which have a soft skin and the juiciest fruit. To create an exquisite plum wine, they use three times more plums than usual and age the wine for three years. Suppai is a fantastic balance of rich sweet fruit and refreshing crisp acid.

SAKE JUNMAI

Made with nothing but rice, water, yeast and koji.
Typically richer and fuller than other types, often with good acidity.

SEVEN SPEARSMEN	JUNMAI	98
Tomita Brewery, Shiga Prefecture

Founded in the 1540s, Tomita is the third oldest brewery in Japan. The ‘Seven Spearsmen’ are Legendary Generals who decisively won the battle of Shizugatke in 1583, which was fought in the fields just outside of the brewery. This is a traditional style Junmai, rich and earthy with lots of umami. Hints of dried mushrooms accentuate its flavors.

OKA ‘CHERRY BLOSSOM BOUQUET’ GINJO	56	112	224
Dewazakura Brewery, Yamagata Prefecture

Cherry Bouquet was the very first widely available and reasonably priced Ginjo sake released in Japan. Its release started the modern renaissance of Ginjo Sake. Delicate flavors come from the Dewasansan rice, which has been specially cultivated to thrive in this mountainous region. This sake is wrapped in aromas of cherry blossom flowers with deeper layers of ripe fruit notes.

WANDERING POET	JUNMAI GINJO	61	122
Rihaku Brewery, Shimane Prefecture

This sake has broad appeal with a memorable, sturdy flavor. Rihaku was named for the famous Chinese poet, Li Po, who lived from 701-762 and was known to drink a lot of sake before writing. According to local legend, he would drink a bottle of sake and write 100 poems. It has notes of banana and very-ripe honeydew with a clean, crisp acidity that highlights its light-to-medium body. It’s lingering finish moves from juicy fruitiness to green herbal notes making it a great food companion.

SOUL OF THE SENSEI	JUNMAI DAIGINJO	76	152
Doi Brewery, Shizuoka prefecture

This sake commemorates the life of the previous Toji, who was a Brew Master Sensei and one of the 'Four Guardians of Heaven' from the prestigious Noto Toji Guild. Doi brewery continues its former sensei's traditions with this clean, dry and rich brew, which is considered one of Japan's most highly regarded sake. It has a rare combination of concentrated fruit aromatics and dry mouthfeel for a Junmai Daiginjo. It has aromas of clean honeydew rind and grainy rice, with a touch of earth. While zesty cantaloupe and dry anise dominate up front, the finish is dry with white pepper and jasmine notes.

Kuheiji Kuno is the talented owner and master brewer of Kuheiji Brewery. As a young man, he fell in love with Burgundy's wines and followed his passion to France, where he moved to study and learn how wine is made. Through this, a unique bridge between the two was forged. Now as Toji of his brewery, he uses his knowledge of Burgundy to create new innovations in his sake. Kurodashi is one of the first sake brands to be terroir-specific. 'Tako' means 'high value rice paddies' and refers to the specific incredibly fertile field this sake is made from, similarly to having a specific Premier Cru site in Burgundy. This Sake has a unique collection of flavors: peach, lemon, cucumber and great minerality. The complexity of this sake will make it an excellent choice for any lover of great white wine.
